

attacks. West of Passad they gained advantage. The army of Romania, at the mouth of the Danube, at the southern exit of Rothernburg pass, fighting took place with the Romanians. The latter, having been dispersed during the battle of Hermannstadt. Enemy attacks in the Hatzek mountains were unsuccessful. West of Oboro height our allies gained ground.

Touton Troops Withdraw.
Between Presha lake and the Nize hill, north of Kaimakalan height, our troops have withdrawn to positions in accordance with orders. Fighting continues on the Nize hill.

"Northwest of Lake Tahnos the enemy is still maintaining a position. In Karsakof, on the left bank of the Struma."

Denies Bridge Destruction.

A dispatch from Bucharest by way of Rome as given out by the Wireless Press today denies the statement of the German and Bulgarian war offices that Austrian monitors have destroyed the bridge across the Danube south of Bucharest, over which the Rumanians passed to invade Bulgaria. It is said the passage of troops, munitions and stores continues.

The dispatch also says the battle in Dobrudja is increasing in violence and that the Germans and Bulgarians are suffering enormous losses. While the foregoing inferentially contradicts the official German and Bulgarian reports of the complete defeat of the Rumanians who invaded Bulgaria, it is possible that the dispatches were sent from Bucharest before the Bulgarians began their attack on the invaders, whose defeat was first announced by the German war office October 3.

Bulgarians Fall Back, Allies Occupying Buf. Popli and Yenikeui

PARIS, October 5.—The allied troops on the western end of the Macedonian front continue to press back the Bulgarian forces before Monastir. The war office today announced that further ground had been gained and that the towns of Buf and Popli, twelve miles south of Monastir, had been occupied.

British troops yesterday morning captured the entire town of Yenikeui, a village in Greek Macedonia, which lies two miles to the east of the Struma river, says the latest British official statement. Scottish and Irish battalions especially distinguished themselves in the fighting for this position and the Bulgarians are reported to have suffered heavy losses.

German and Bulgarian forces on the western end of the Macedonian front have again fallen back, Berlin admits. The Serbians crossed the Tchernia river and defeated their adversary on the Nize mountain, in Serbia, and also captured the Kessal railroad station, according to advice received here. The Serbians territory recaptured now embraces 230 square kilometers, including seven towns.

French and Russians also continue victoriously their forward movement.

SOFIA, October 5.—Bulgarian troops have been successful in halting attempted advances of enemy forces in several sectors of the Macedonian front, the Sofia war office announced.

PLANS FOR THE FUNERAL OF JUSTICE ANDERSON

The body of Justice Thomas H. Anderson, who died in Denver, Col., Saturday, arrived in Washington at 11:20 o'clock this morning. Funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the Metropolitan Memorial M. E. Church, C street and John Marshall place northwest. Interment will be in Rock Creek cemetery.

The services will be conducted by Bishop William F. McDowell, rev. Dr. Henry M. Miller, Rev. Dr. James Sherr, Montgomery and Rev. Dr. Whitford L. McDowell. The list of pallbearers is as follows:

Active pallbearers—Thomas C. Taylor, Jesse C. Adkins, George E. Sullivan, Williams F. Lemon, Frank J. Hogan and Andrew B. Duval.

Honorary pallbearers—Chief Justice White of the United States Supreme Court, and Justices McKenna, Day and Vandewater; Charles Warren Fairbank, Chief Justice of the United States Court of Appeals, and Justices Robb and Van Orsdel; Chief Justice of the District of Columbia, and Justices Gould, Stabler, McCoy and Siddons; Judge John M. Harbo, Judge John M. Knapp, Judge Edson, Theodore W. Noyes, Hannis Taylor, Frederic D. McKenney, George E. Hamilton, Benjamin L. Leighton, Dr. Richard Kingsman and Myron M. Parker.

The Bar Association of the District of Columbia will attend in a body the funeral services. President Hoehling has sent out a notice to the lawyers to assemble at the city hall at 2 o'clock.

In order to allow the clerks and attaches of the courts to attend the obsequies, Chief Justice Livingston directed the closing of the various offices at the city hall Friday at 1 p.m. It is expected the Court of Appeals and the Municipal and Police courts will also close early to permit the attendance at the church service of those connected with these tribunals.

SIGNAL CORPS IS HIKING FROM WARREN TO NOGALES

Special Dispatch to The Star.

HEREFORD, Ariz., October 5.—After an eighteen-mile hike all day yesterday on their way from Warren to Nogales, the District Signal Corps Company bivouacked here for the night. Although a bit dusty and a little tired, the men and animals arrived in good shape. The wagon train of six escort wagons and four feed cars, the latter loaded with heavy feed, were kept up with the fast pace set by the main section. The troops did not leave Warren until 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning.

Early today the troops were up and packing their shelter tents and getting the horses in shape for another leg of the trip. They will attempt to make Fort Huachuca.

The troops are going to stop for a while in the vicinity of Huachuca, where they will participate with other troops in a combat problem, the District troops to be on the defensive. The signal company will be required to keep open all kinds of communication, so that the forces engaged in the combat can be properly directed. A breaking of a line of communication in some cases means defeat, and the success depends on the ability of the District boys to keep messages going.

WAR'S LENGTH CANNOT BE ESTIMATED, HE SAYS

LONDON, October 5.—Gen. Sir William Robertson, chief of the imperial staff at army headquarters, said in a speech at Dardelby, Lincolnshire, that while the allies were winning the war slowly but surely, he wished to impress upon his hearers the necessity of procuring more men for the army and munitions factories.

"We must be under no delusion," he continued, "as to the end or probable duration of this struggle. We must be prepared to continue for a time which cannot at present be estimated."

"In fact, we must prepare for the worst while we hope for the best. We have adopted in theory the principle of national service. We must see that we put it into practice, because we want more men, and we want them now, and eventually we shall want all who can be spared."

SNAPPED AT ROSSLYN SHORTLY BEFORE THE 3D REGIMENT, DISTRICT NATIONAL GUARD, DEPARTED FOR MEXICAN BORDER.

Between arrivals of loads of impediments, loading detail enjoyed brief visits with friends, who spent the afternoon in Rosslyn yards.

THIRD REGIMENT REACHES GOSHEN

D. C. Troops Share Honors With Buffalo Bill at Staunton, Va.

MEN IN GOOD CONDITION FOR TRIP TO THE BORDER

Special Dispatch to The Star.

ABOARD 3d INFANTRY SPECIAL, Goshen, Va., October 5.—District infantrymen, like their comrades who have gone to the border before them, are fast becoming popular along the way. They are a little better off than some of the other troops, for just before they left they were paid for one month, and they have money with which to buy dainties in addition to the regular mess.

After a hard day of work yesterday, and even last night, the troops were willing to jump into their berths soon after the rain pulled out of the Rosslyn yards. But, once on the way, the cooks in the mess cars, which were placed in the center of each train, had a nice warm supper ready for the men after midnight.

They certainly enjoyed it, for it was all many of them had since lunch. Many of the troops had friends at the cars with packages of lunch, but in the excitement and lateness of the hour the newly organized 3d Infantry boys were too tired to make connections. Some of the soldiers, however, were luckier than others, and were able to get the hold of the boxes which they knew had been prepared for them.

Company E on Guard Duty.

They all slept well until 7 o'clock, when they were awakened. They were soon up and dressed, ready to get a glimpse of the scenery on the way south, and, of course, see some of the pretty girls which the newspaper stories said had come to the stations to meet the trains and had provided candles and other good things.

Company E is furnishing the guard on the train, but there is nothing for the guard to do. Capt. Oehmman is officer of the day. The first stop was at Staunton, Va., where the trains arrived at 3:30 o'clock this morning. Despite the early hour, the troops were not in a hurry to get on their feet. They were waiting for the platform to give the District boys a send-off. Buffalo Bill and the 3d Infantry arrived at the station at 3:30 o'clock. The newly organized 3d Infantry boys raised enough noise to drown all the other sounds of the morning. The men had an opportunity to spend any of the money they received yesterday for their morning repast just the same as the men seemed to try to buy anything they could get their hands on. The next stop would be, so they attempted to lay in a large supply.

Typhoid Treatment Tomorrow.

The men will have something to think about tomorrow. Orders have been issued that one injection of the para-typhoid prophylaxis will be administered to each soldier. This will be administered by Maj. Charles R. Luce, commanding the sanitary detachment, 3d Infantry, assisted by Lieut. Tackett and Gibbs.

Although every arrangement has been completed for making sick men comfortable, there has not been a case to date. In the drawing room section of the train, the men are being kept in good shape, but if the present state of the men is kept up there will be little use for it.

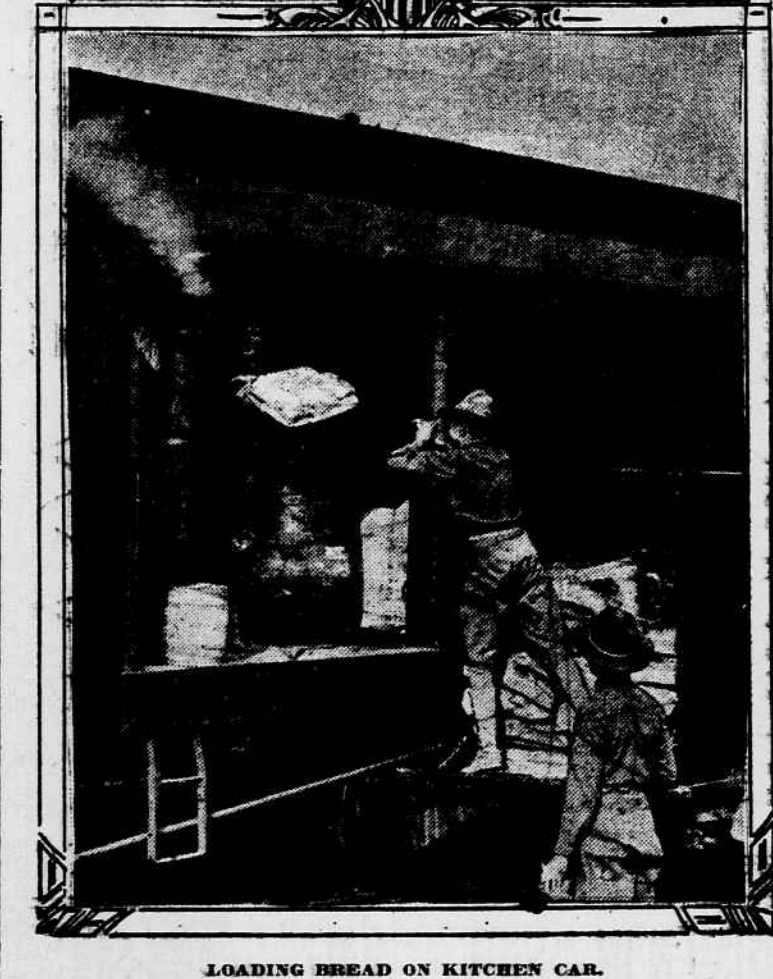

Leut. White, the dental surgeon attached to the 3d Infantry, was the hardest worked medical officer aboard the train. A number of the men developed cases of toothache during the night and Dr. White was kept busy attending to them. He will have to catch up with his sleep today, and dream of methods whereby fond friends and relatives may be kept from putting sweet things aboard troop trains when they start.

Some Have No Uniforms.

There are a number of men riding to Fort Sam Houston without uniforms or other field equipment. They are recruits who signed enlistment papers just before the troop train left Rosslyn, when they were sure that the regiment would go to the border. They will be fully equipped upon arrival at the destination.

The men have not yet learned that water on a troop train on a five-day trip is likely to run short. They have been inclined to waste it to such a large extent that it was necessary to issue an order requiring the guard to see that no man took more than was needed.

Everything now is running aboard the train in as smooth a condition as though right in camp, with plenty of room and all camp conveniences. A battalion headquarters has been set up in each train, and the companies aboard each section are required to turn in their morning reports just the same as when they are in camp. On the first section, Maj. Luce is in charge of the company. The second section is in charge of Maj. Luce, and the third section is in charge of Maj. Luce. The fourth section is in charge of Maj. Luce, and the fifth section is in charge of Maj. Luce.

DESCRIBES PLANS TO BEAUTIFY CITY

Col. Harts Speaks at First Fall Session of Twentieth Century Club.

STEREOPTION VIEWS OF CAPITAL ARE SHOWN

Steps being taken by the government to make Washington the most beautiful city in the world were described by Col. W. W. Harts, U. S. A., superintendent of public buildings and grounds, today at the first meeting of the Twentieth Century Club in All Souls' Church. Col. Harts strongly urged the necessity of following out in every detail the so-called park commission plan for the development of Washington, which, he pointed out, was an amplification of the original plan for the nation's capital designed by Maj. L'Enfant.

"Earl Grey of England declared, after examining the plans made by the park commission for the development of Washington, that this city would be the most beautiful in the world if the plans were carried out," said Col. Harts. "The development of the 'old city,' lying south of Florida avenue, in which the plans of L'Enfant were followed, was comparatively little deviation, was much better in the width of streets, the park spaces provided, and other details than the new plan of the city, in which the original plans were abandoned to a considerable extent. Col. Harts urged a return to the original plan for the city wherever it was possible."

Reason for Location Here.

The history of the District of Columbia and the reason for the establishment of a federal district as the seat of the nation's capital was discussed briefly by Col. Harts, who reminded his audience that Congress had in the early days of the nation found it impossible to obtain proper protection from mobs in New York and had determined that the seat of government should be located in a place where Congress had exclusive jurisdiction.

In consequence, he said, the city is really owned by the federal government, all the streets, the sidewalks, the sewers are the property of the government. This, he said, has had a beneficial effect upon the development of the city, since the government has been able to go ahead with improvements along lines that could not have been attempted with success by the taxpayers alone.

Treatment of L'Enfant.

Col. Harts gave great credit for the development of the capital along its present beautiful lines to Maj. L'Enfant, whom, he said, this government had failed to treat in accordance with the ideas of that officer. Instead of the $50,000 which Maj. L'Enfant insisted should be due him for designing the city, he was paid $500 for his expenses and later the sum of $2,500 for his work.

Stereopticon views of the capital, from the time when it was undeveloped farm land down to the present day, were shown by Col. Harts. He showed the city as it was in 1791, the city as it was in 1800, the city as it was in 1810, the city as it was in 1820, the city as it was in 1830, the city as it was in 1840, the city as it was in 1850, the city as it was in 1860, the city as it was in 1870, the city as it was in 1880, the city as it was in 1890, the city as it was in 1900, the city as it was in 1910, the city as it was in 1915, the city as it was in 1916.

that it had spent about $50 for playground improvement at the Bruen Home for children.

Another report submitted showed that $200 had been collected for war relief work in France since the last meeting and that three lots of clothes for the war sufferers had gone forward.

GOETHALS IS SELECTED FOR EIGHT-HOUR BOARD

Commissioner Clark of the I. C. C. Also Chosen by President as Member.

OMAHA, Neb., October 5.—Maj. Gen. Goethals, governor of the Panama canal, and Commissioner Clark of the interstate commerce commission, have been selected by President Wilson as two of the three members of the board created by Congress to investigate the eight-hour law.

Formal announcement of the selection of all three members will be made tonight. The President made the selections several days ago, and has been waiting for the acceptance. Gen. Goethals gained the consent of the President several weeks ago to retire as Governor of the Canal Zone. He was offered the new position on his arrival from the canal recently. He will serve as chairman of the board.

NEW YORK, October 5.—Maj. Gen. George W. Goethals was quoted as saying today that he had received information that he had been designated by President Wilson as chairman of the commission which is to investigate the workings of the eight-hour law for railroads, but that the position had not yet been offered to him officially.

"I have heard nothing officially," he said. "There has been no formal appointment. Asked if he would accept the post if appointed, his reply was: 'I am an officer in the army. It is my duty to obey any command the President may give me. I had intended to retire. I am still under orders.'"

Goethals recently returned here from the Panama canal, where he has completed his work.

REORGANIZED PRODUCERS DISCUSS MILK SITUATION

Members of the recently reorganized Milk Producers' Association of Maryland, Virginia and the District of Columbia, particularly the officers and members of the executive committee, held a meeting this afternoon, beginning at 1:30 o'clock, at the office of Judson C. Welliver, in the Munsey building, for the purpose of going over the reports in connection with the campaign the organization is conducting to make the "middlemen," or milk dealers of Washington, pay the producers more for milk.

The producers took up principally business questions in regard to finance in connection with the organization, and the progress of the campaign they have waged in Maryland, Virginia and the District, among the farmers, etc., although some attention was paid to a discussion of the "milk strike" now being felt in New York city, the producers who supply that community having refused to continue to sell their milk to the dealers there at the old prices. It was said, also, that an invitation was received by the Producers' Association for its officers to go to Frederick, Md., Saturday, to attend the convention there of the Dairyman's Association of Frederick county, whose members send a large quantity of milk to Washington, and that some of the producers of solids will attend the convention.

Reports on Biennial Meeting.

Mrs. E. H. Town, who was a delegate representing the Twentieth Century Club at the biennial meeting of the Federation of Women's Clubs in New York last June, made her report. The Twentieth Century Club is directly affiliated with the federation.

DYESTUFFS CENSUS ORDERED PUBLISHED

Secretary Redfield Instructs Individual Transactions Shall Be Eliminated, However.

IMPORTERS WIN FIGHT; U. S. MANUFACTURERS LOSE

Instructions today were issued by Secretary Redfield for the publication of the dyestuffs census recently taken by the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce. The individual transactions wherein the names of firms are used will not be shown, according to the Secretary. This was the point to which the importers of foreign materials objected and to which the department has yielded. The American manufacturers wanted the names published.

Secretary Redfield said the action was taken in accordance with a departmental policy not to divulge individual operations. Very great political pressure was brought to bear upon Secretary Redfield to prevent the publication, in its original form, of the census, prepared by Dr. Thomas H. Norton of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce. The importers of foreign materials and exporting American manufacturers and exporters of dyestuffs to this country, among them Herman A. Metz, a former democratic member of the House of Representatives from New York, American manufacturers of dyestuffs and American chemists generally were clamoring that the census should be printed and published in its original form.

Right to Publish Figures.

A. L. Thurman, solicitor for the Department of Commerce, it is learned, has passed upon the legal end of the matter, and has insisted that the figures contained in the report, obtained from the customs house of the United States entirely, so far as the importations of foreign dyes are concerned, may properly be published under the statutes. The importers insist that they reveal private business secrets, and demand that the figures showing the total of the dyes published. American manufacturers and exporters of dyestuffs to this country, among them Herman A. Metz, a former democratic member of the House of Representatives from New York, American manufacturers of dyestuffs and American chemists generally were clamoring that the census should be printed and published in its original form.

Proofs Public Few Days.

Proofs of the census as originally drafted were sent to the New York city, where the chemical societies were in convention there last week and for a few days were open to public inspection. The importers immediately protested to the department and demanded that the proofs be withdrawn from inspection. Secretary Redfield ordered them to be withdrawn pending a settlement of the question at issue.

The opinion of the American manufacturers in regard to the demands made by the importers is expressed in the statement recently made by Dr. W. H. Watkins, chief chemist of the Schenck Chemical Works, incorporated, of Buffalo, one of the largest makers of coal tar dyes in this country. He said:

"To my mind the protests of the importers are all rot. They amount to an objection to the survey, which is a survey of the chemical industry, and that is their motive. All these firms are controlled in Germany. I should say that one group of figures contained in the census proofs saved us $1,000,000, and probably a year of misdirected effort. I found by consulting them that certain colors we had considered important would have a very small sale."

Hughes Goes West Again Monday.

NEW YORK, October 5.—Charles E. Hughes' third western campaign tour, which begins next Monday, will take him as far west as Nebraska, as far south as Kentucky and as far north as South Dakota. He will make speeches on the way in many States, Pennsylvania, Maryland, West Virginia, Missouri, Iowa, Michigan and Ohio, returning here October 22. His campaign was announced at republican national headquarters.

Another Grand Value
